Introduction

Alder tree house is a detached property located on Wood Close, Kirkby. The home comprises of: Small entrance Hall that leads directly into the lounge. Following on from the lounge is the adjoining dining room, and kitchen to the ground floor. To the first floor there are three spacious bedrooms with en suite to master bedroom and a family bathroom. Outside is a driveway for two to three cars and a garden with patio area to the rear. The property further benefits from Upvc double glazing, gas central heating, and security lighting.

Caring for the Children and Young People

Alder Tree House will provide a high level of care for up to 2 children and young people between the ages of 7 and 17years. Alder Tree House will provide medium to long term care and support for children and young people of either sex that have been subject to neglect, trauma, abuse, and will require support to manage and/or cope with emotional behavioural difficulties and/or Learning Disabilities and other complex needs.

Alder Tree House will ensure that all children and young people coming to live in our home, will have a smooth planned transition. This will not be a home that accepts emergency placements, unless there are no children and young people yet resident in the home. This will reduce the disruption to any other child or young person already residing in the home.

The provision of care will be in a multi-occupancy house registered with OFSTED as a Children's Home.

A robust impact risk assessment will be completed for each child/ young person who may reside at the home, which can determine whether our home will be the right home for them to live in. Alder Tree House will match the needs of the young person to the home, location, and other young people. This will ensure that the placement is suitable and is able to meet their needs prior to them moving in.

It is the aim of Alder Tree House to provide a welcoming, warm homely environment for the children and young people to settle into and feel safe and secure. Staff will develop positive relationships with the children and young people and encourage them to develop positive relationships with other children and young people living in our home. We would like to replicate, as much as possible, a regular family environment, where children and young people are able to take controlled risks as they enjoy their youth and prepare for independence.

Location of the Home

Alder Tree House is situated in Kirkby which is close to Tower Hill. Kirkby is a town within the Metropolitan Borough of Knowsley, in Merseyside, England, commonly known as Knowsley Village. Historically part of Lancashire, at the 2001 Census it had a population of 11,343. It gave its name to the wider borough when it was formed in 1974.

Safeguarding

Knowsley Safeguarding Children Partnership (KSCP) is an independent statutory body responsible for ensuring that individuals and organisations work effectively together to safeguard children in Knowsley. KSCP is made up of representatives from a range of organisations, who work closely with children and families.

The board closely monitors and evaluates the work of organisations that engage with children and offer advice and guidance on safeguarding practices, policies, and procedures.

Part of their strategic approach involves the evaluation of past cases and experiences and tailoring their work to ensure lessons are learnt from these.

Any safeguarding issues will immediately be referred to the KSCP. The staff at the home will receive full training in Safeguarding children, ensuring that they fully utilize the local procedures and those of placing authorities.

The KSCP have been consulted as an element of this location risk assessment and requested to provide any relevant information regarding local safeguarding risks that Elm Tree House should be aware of, and which requires action.

Staffing numbers and ratios are high at the home and for younger children all activities off-site are accompanied by staff. Potential risks from child sexual exploitation are assessed and risk managed. There are common vulnerability factors in children and young people that can lead to them being more likely to be exposed to sexual exploitation, and common signs and behaviours displayed by those who are already being sexually exploited. The following are typical vulnerabilities in children prior to abuse:

- Living in a chaotic or dysfunctional household (including parental substance use, domestic violence, parental mental health issues, parental criminality)
- History of abuse (including familial child sexual abuse, risk of forced marriage, risk of 'honour'-based violence, physical and emotional abuse and neglect)
- Recent bereavement or loss
- Gang association either through relatives, peers or intimate relationships (in cases of gang associated CSE only)
- Attending school with young people who are sexually exploited
- Learning disabilities
- Unsure about their sexual orientation or unable to disclose sexual orientation to their families
- Friends with young people who are sexually exploited
- Homeless
- Lacking friends from the same age group
- Living in a gang neighbourhood
- Living in residential care
- Living in hostel, bed and breakfast accommodation or a foyer
- Low self-esteem or self-confidence
- Young carer

The following signs and behaviour are generally seen in children who are already being sexually exploited:

- Missing from home or care
- Physical injuries
- Drug or alcohol misuse
- Involvement in offending
- Repeat sexually transmitted infections, pregnancy, and terminations
- Absent from school

- Change in physical appearance
- Evidence of sexual bullying and/or vulnerability through the internet and/or social networking sites
- Estranged from their family
- Receipt of gifts from unknown sources
- Recruiting others into exploitative situations
- Poor mental health
- Self-harm
- Thoughts of or attempts at suicide

Any child displaying several vulnerabilities from the above lists should be considered to be at high risk of sexual exploitation. However, children without pre-existing vulnerabilities can still be sexually exploited so any child showing risk indicators in the second list, but none of the vulnerabilities in the first list, should also be considered as a potential victim.

The CSE Protocol Multi Agency CSE Protocol sets out the multi-agency procedure for tackling child sexual exploitation in Knowsley and across Cheshire and Merseyside. The protocol details how through the multi-agency child sexual exploitation (MACSE) meetings we can work together to reduce the harm poised to children and young people from CSE.

The CSE strategy Pan Cheshire/Merseyside Protocol document contains guidance for professionals about CSE including signs and indicators, push and pull factors, trafficking, use of language and dangers of labelling etc.

The above documents will be made available to staff at the home to familiarise themselves with the protocols.

Our assessment is that high levels of support in and away from the home, provided for children and young people, their relatively high needs and levels of vulnerability will result in risks being robustly assessed and minimised. The location of the home itself does not present an unwarranted level of personal safeguarding risks to children and young people living at Elm Tree House.

County Lines and Criminal Exploitation

What is County Lines?

'County Lines' is a term used when drug gangs from big cities expand their operations to smaller towns, often using violence to drive out local dealers and exploiting children and vulnerable people to sell drugs. These dealers will use dedicated mobile phone lines, known as 'deal lines', to take orders from drug users. Heroin, cocaine, and crack cocaine are the most common drugs being supplied and ordered. In most instances, the users or customers will live in a different area to where the dealers and networks are based, so drug runners are needed to transport the drugs and collect payment.

Exploitation of Young and Vulnerable People

A common feature in county lines drug supply is the exploitation of young and vulnerable people. The dealers will frequently target children and adults – often with mental health or addiction problems – to act as drug runners or move cash so they can stay under the radar of law enforcement.

In some cases, the dealers will take over a local property, normally belonging to a vulnerable person, and use it to operate their criminal activity from. This is known as cuckooing. People exploited in this way will quite often be exposed to physical, mental, and sexual abuse, and in some instances will be trafficked to areas a long way from home as part of the network's drug dealing business.

As we have seen in child sexual exploitation, children often don't see themselves as victims or realise they have been groomed to get involved in criminality. So, it's important that we all play our part to understand county lines and speak out if we have concerns.

Here are some signs to look out for that can suggest that someone you know might be involved in county lines activity:

- Are they always going missing from school or their home?
- Are they travelling alone to places far away from home?
- Do they suddenly have lots of money / lots of new clothes / new mobile phones?
- Are they receiving much more calls or texts than usual?
- Are they carrying or selling drugs?
- Are they carrying weapons or know people that have access to weapons?
- Are they in a relationship with or hanging out with someone/people that are older and controlling?
- Do they have unexplained injuries?
- Do they seem very reserved or seem like they have something to hide?
- Do they seem scared?
- Are they self-harming?

How do you know if County Lines drug dealing is happening in your area?

Some signs to look out for include:

- An increase in visitors and cars to a house or flat
- New faces appearing at the house or flat
- New and regularly changing residents (e.g., different accents compared to local accent)
- Change in residents' mood and / or demeanour (e.g., secretive / withdrawn/ aggressive/ emotional)
- Substance misuse and/or drug paraphernalia
- Changes in the way young people might know dress
- Unexplained, sometimes unaffordable new things (e.g., clothes, jewellery, cars etc.)
- Residents or young people you know going missing, maybe for long periods of time
- Young people seen in different cars / taxis driven by unknown adults
- Young people seeming unfamiliar with your community or where they are
- Truancy, exclusion, disengagement from school
- An increase in anti-social behaviour in the community
- Unexplained injuries

What to do if you have concerns

The best advice is to trust your instincts. Even if someone isn't involved in county lines drug dealing, they may be being exploited in some other way, so it's always worth speaking out. You can speak to your local police by dialling 101, or in an emergency 999. If you would rather remain anonymous, you can contact the independent charity Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

If you notice something linked to the railways, you can report concerns to the British Transport Police by texting 61016 from your mobile. In an emergency dial 999.

If you are a young person who is worried about your involvement, or a friend's involvement in county lines; a good option is to speak to an adult you trust and talk to them about your concerns.

You can also call Childline on 0800 1111. Childline is private and confidential service where you can talk to specially trained counsellors about anything that is worrying you. Alternatively, speak to a children and young people's service like Catch 22. They work with children and young people of any age to help get them out of situations they're worried about and have helped lots of children and young people involved in County Lines.

Law enforcement response

Tackling county lines, and the supply gangs responsible for high levels of violence, exploitation and abuse of vulnerable adults and children, is a priority for UK law enforcement. Law enforcement collectively has been stepping up its response, working to identify and take effective action in areas of the country with the most significant problems. To enhance the law enforcement response still further, a multi-agency county lines coordination centre has been established, bringing together officers from the NCA, police and regional organised crime units to develop the national intelligence picture, prioritise action against the most serious offenders, and engage with partners across government, including in the health, welfare and education spheres, to tackle the wider issues. In addition to helping the NCA and policing partners to work together more effectively and deliver a more comprehensive response to the county lines threat, the centre will assist the development of a whole-system, multi-agency approach which is vital to ensuring that vulnerable people are identified and safeguarded, understanding factors behind demand for drugs, and recovering proceeds of crime.

Further information:

If a child or young person is at risk of harm, abuse or neglect please report it to the Knowsley Multi-Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) (0151 443 2600) 9.00am-5.00pm Monday to Friday. Outside of these hours please call The Emergency Duty Team on 0151 443 2600. In an emergency always dial 999...
